THE BOYS OF THE OLD BRIGADE

Illustrated Catalogue

£2.80

Over 480 Types + Castings

Langley Models in conjunction with 'Soldiers of the Queen' and 'Yorvic Figurines' have compiled this comprehensive catalogue of Toy Soldiers for you, the Collector, to peruse at your leisure.

It represents months of painstaking research, collating and sculpting, to bring you the British Army in Miniature. Every Guard and Line Regiment is represented within our range. We also have a few rare volunteers too.

We are constantly increasing and improving our range to give you a varied choice of the best in Toy Soldiers. Our figures are totally compatible with old Britains and do not look out of place in style.

All painted sets are limited edition, only 100 of each set will be produced and they are supplied in attractive red boxes with a certificate giving the limited number in the lid of the box.

We pursue a policy of continual improvement and reserve the right to introduce alterations without notice and without incurring obligations.

Over 600 Types & Castings

Cast metal figures and Hand Painted, Limited Edition sets now available.

Langley Models have been producing quality 'Toy Soldier' figures for many years and this catalogue shows all the figures, wagons, guns etc. currently available.

It represents years of painstaking research, collating and sculpting, to bring you the British Army, Navy and Air Force in Miniature, plus many Regiments from Countries all over the World. Every line and Guard Regiment is represented within the range, plus some rare Volunteers and other unusual sets.

We are constantly increasing and improving our range to give you a varied choice of the best in Toy Soldiers. Our figures are compatible with many brands of early lead toy soldiers and many of our heads and arms, which are available separately, are useful in the repair of period lead soldiers.

All painted sets are Limited Edition, only 100 of each set will be produced and they are supplied in attractive red boxes with a certificate giving the limited edition number in the lid of the box. (Painted to customer order, although we always have a selection of painted sets in stock - please phone for latest details).

We pursue a policy of continual improvement and reserve the right to introduce alterations without notice and without incurring obligations.

CAST METAL FIGURES - HAND PAINTED FIGURES - MILITARY & FANTASY FIGURES

HELPFUL HINTS

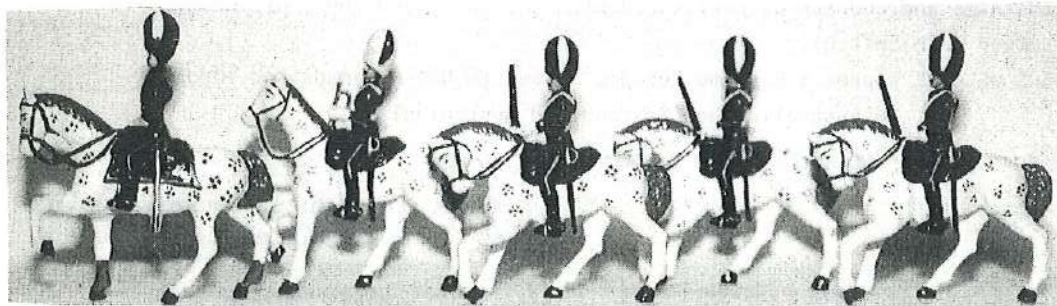

1. Tools most modellers have their own ideas about tools. It is however advisable to have a selection of swiss files, a good sharp craft knife, a burnishing brush (a suede shoe brush is ideal), wet and dry paper, glue or soldering iron, plus a good selection of small artists paint brushes. Although expensive a Badger Air Brush and an Expo drill, together with a selection of dentist's burs (ask him for his old ones!) would prove invaluable.

2. Casting Preparation It is most important to prepare your figure before assembly. Gently remove any flash or mould seam marks with a swiss file or the back of a craft knife. Each section should then be cleaned and gently burnished by brushing with a soft wire brush e.g. a brass suede shoe brush. It would be a good idea to try a dry assembly run (i.e. without glue) to ensure all parts fit correctly before final assembly.

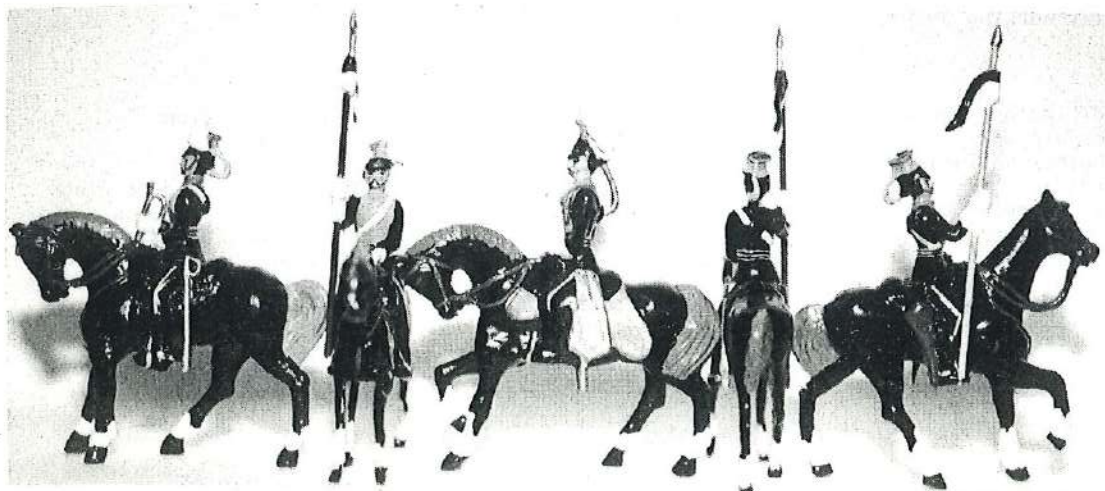

3. Glues and Solder

- a). 5 minute Epoxy glue is ideal for most modellers as it allows time to adjust the parts during assembly. Available from most model shops or hardware outlets.
- b). Cyanoacrylic glue i.e. Instant glue can also be used but the parts must be located exactly first time, as it sets instantly.
- c). Solder is best used by the experienced modeller. The type we recommend for cast metal kits is low melt solder (e.g. Langley Low Melt Solder and Langley flux). Great care must be taken that the hot soldering iron does not melt through the casting.
- d). A harder variety of solder can be used e.g. Multicore 60% tin/40% lead. The method is to build the solder above the joints like a weld seam, fusing each half together. The excess solder is then removed with a burr, file or knife and the items re-profiled. This method ensures a good undetectable joint, but great care must be taken as the melting point of the solder is almost the same as that of the casting, without care limbs could drop off when the melting point is reached (not nice !) Practice and patience are the keys to this method of construction, and produce excellent results.

4. Painting Clean the assembled unit with warm soapy water to ensure any grease is removed, and allow to dry. The prepared model should then be primed, Holts or a similar car undercoat are very good and come in tins for brush painters or Aerosols. Make sure that this is not applied too thickly or fine detail will be obliterated. The unit can then be painted as required with the paint of your choice. Suitable paints are;- Humbrol, Gloy or Airfix paints available from most model shops. Rowney Crylaflow or Rowney Acrylic Oils available from artists supply shops are also suitable. Two very useful books for research available from most libraries are the Ospray range and the series written by Funcken.

LANGLEY MODELS

The following are all metal kits from our Langley Fantasy/Military range. They differ from the Toy Soldiers in that they are only supplied in kit form and are finely detailed. Some kits can be altered if wished by changing arms, weapons etc. and several of the figures can be put together to make a scene.

The items on this page are approx. 75mm scale as are the Napoleonics at the back of this section.

The Romans, Medieval Knights and English Civil War are 54mm.

LM.3. PEGASUS

A beautiful 75mm model straight from Greek Mythology. A must for anyone wanting something 'a little different'.

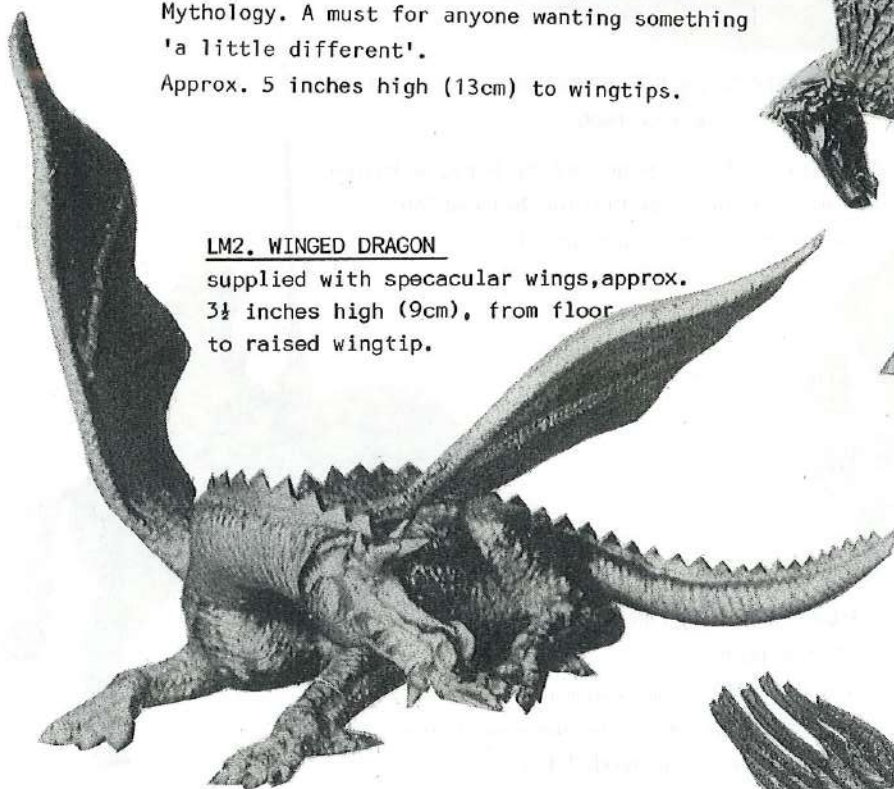

Approx. 5 inches high (13cm) to wingtips.

LM2. WINGED DRAGON

supplied with spectacular wings, approx.

3½ inches high (9cm), from floor to raised wingtip.

LM4. CENTAUR

An unusual model designed as a companion to Pegasus depicting the Greek half man, half horse mythological character.

Approx 4 inches (10cm) high

LM.5. GOLDEN EAGLE

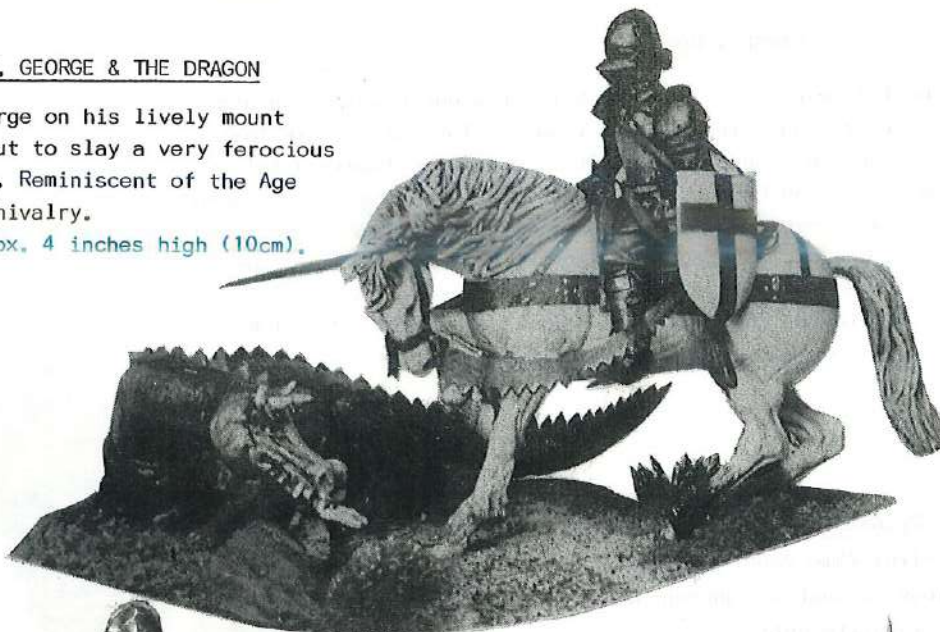

King of the Birds, wings can be gently curved for realism.

Approx 4½" x 6" high. (11½cm x 15½cm)

LM1. ST. GEORGE & THE DRAGON

St. George on his lively mount is about to slay a very ferocious Dragon. Reminiscent of the Age of Chivalry.

Approx. 4 inches high (10cm).

LM.6. MOUNTED KNIGHT with LANCE - TILTING HELM

Circa 1400

Straight from the pages of history, a knight in full armour with tilting helm which is surmounted by a Swan crest.

LM.7. MOUNTED KNIGHT with LANCE - ARMET

Circa 1400

A mounted knight in full Armet armour with the visor on the helm in the down position.

An ideal pair to go with LM.6.

LM.8.

AQUATIC CHESS SET

A beautiful show piece chess set supplied in kit form and ready for polishing or painting.

King - Neptune

Queen - Mermaid

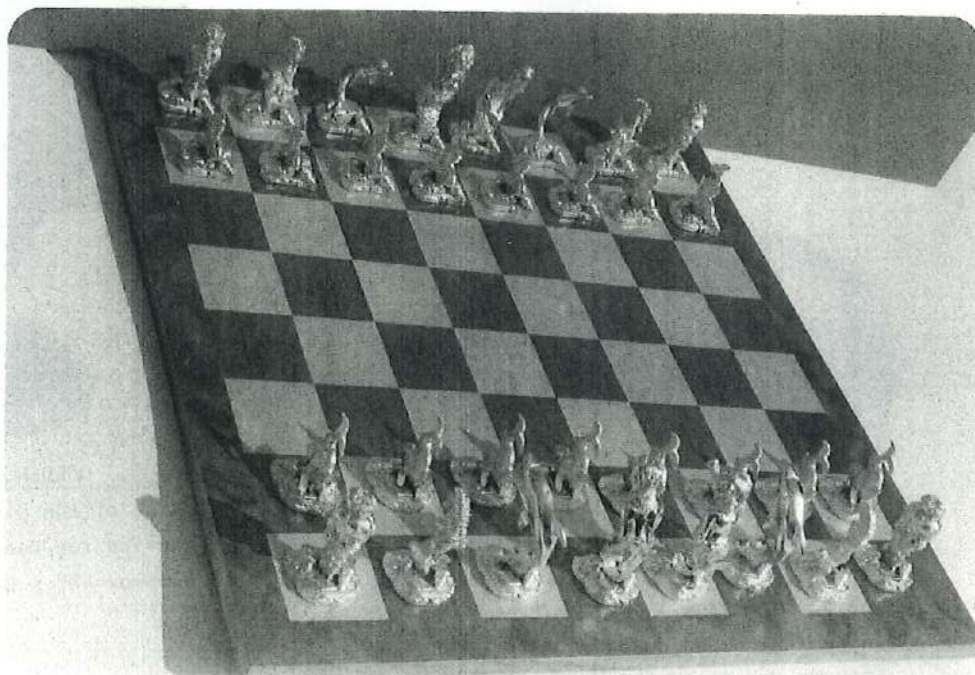

Bishop - Dolphin

Knight - Sea Horse

Rook - Jelly fish

Pawns - Fish

The King stands over 3" high and the pawns just over 1" high.

Langley produce several interesting ranges of well detailed miniature figures. Medieval Knights, Romans and English Civil War in 54mm scale, Napoleonic in 75mm and some exotic fantasy figures in approx 90mm. Arms, weapons and sometimes hoods are supplied as separate items so that the figures can be easily altered to the modellers specific requirements, and several made up into diorama's telling a story.

The kits are made of metal and can be glued together with 5 minute epoxy glue. (available from Hardware and Model shops).

We recommend matt paint for these figures. Humbrol or similar, but acrylics, gouache or watercolours colours can also successfully be used. It is best if they are undercoated first. Some ideas for heraldic patterns for shields and armour are given in our catalogue, your imagination can run wild when painting armour. As every knight would have his own patterns and colours. However, if you want to paint a particular knight and want to be as authentic as possible, then it would be a good idea to refer to reference books, usually available from your local library, Osprey have a good range or the books by Funcken are useful.

K3. Combat Knight

These three figures have all been made from kit K3. There are enough parts supplied to make any one of them, so you could build two K3 kits into a combat scene.

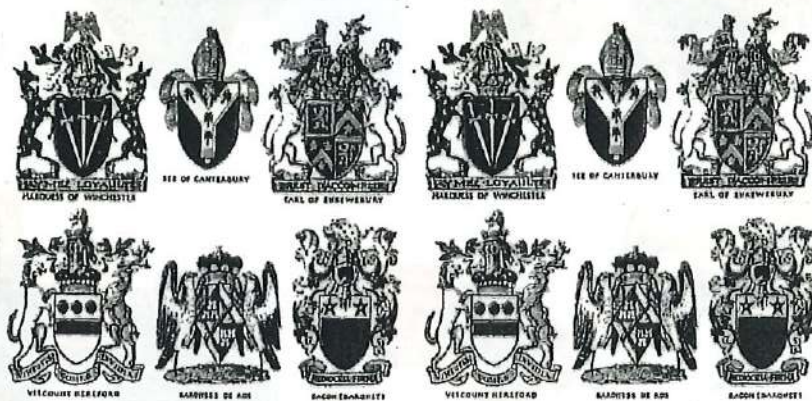

WATERSLIDE TRANSFERS

FULL COLOUR TRANSFERS

K19 Coats of Arms for flags/standards

TRANSFERS

Clean surface for application to be free of dust, grease or oil.

Cut away unprinted portions of sheet.

Place decal in cold water for approx. 1 minute, until it can be easily slide off the backing paper.

If you need to stretch the decal, add a little warm water.

Slide decal from the backing paper on to the surface and adjust it to the desired position.

Use a soft cloth or rubber squeegee to remove all remaining water, bubbles and wrinkles.

Leave item to dry and set for approx. 2-3 hours. The chemical hardening process will be finished after 4-5 days.

To speed up hardening process and for glossy surfaces, warm gently with a hair dryer.

K2. Kneeling Knight

late 13th Century

This knight is depicted kneeling whilst offering his sword up in surrender or for blessing. His shield and helm are at his side and his coif pushed back. Would make a nice church or battlefield diorama with other figures.

K1. Standing Knight - Relaxed

late 13th Century.

The knight is in a relaxed stance holding his great helm under his right arm, whilst leaning on his sword which is in his left hand.

K4. Knight Mounting Horse

late 13th century.

A delightful model portraying a knight mounting his charger, with shield slung on his back and helm hanging from his saddle horn.

K3. Foot Knight dressed for combat.

14th Century.

A knight ready for combat ! Comes complete with alternative helm crest and the weapons are war hammer and mace. The alternatives included in each kit mean that two kits can be made up differently so making a combat scene.

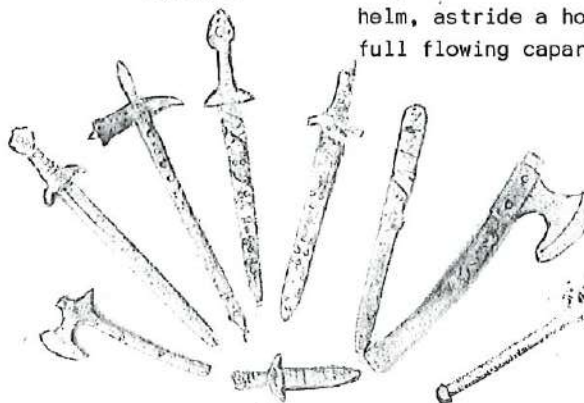

K5. Foot Knight with Standard
13th Century.

A knight holding his Lord's standard. Comes with great helm plus the usual high standard of detail associated with our kits.

K6. Knight on Caparisoned horse
13th Century

A superb kit showing a knight with coronet on his helm, astride a horse with full flowing caparison.

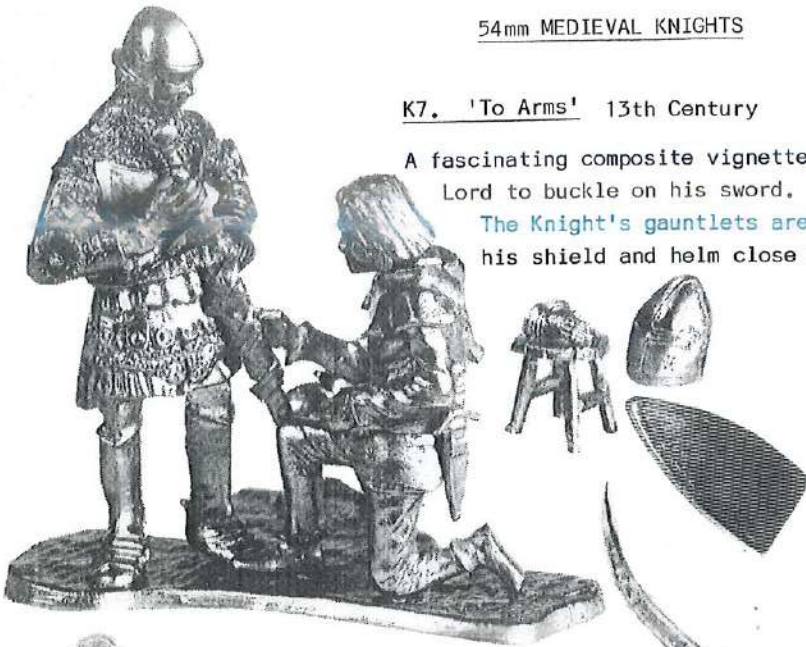

K8. Assorted Weapons

A selection of medieval weapons as used by knights of the 13th and 14th Centuries. Set includes Morning star mace, war hammer, small axe, large axe, 3 assorted swords, scabbard and dagger.

K7. 'To Arms' 13th Century

A fascinating composite vignette of a squire helping his Lord to buckle on his sword.

The Knight's gauntlets are on a small stool, with his shield and helm close by.

K10. 'At Ease' 13th century

Alert knight with shield resting on the floor under his left arm, with his helm in his right hand. The pheasant crested helm has a beautifully flowing scarf falling over the knight's arm.

K9. 'Bill Hook' 13th Century

Peasant soldier with scythe. A figure with real movement, which lends itself to many adaptations i.e. leading a horse throwing a missile etc.

K11. Man - at - Arms

13th century

With leather hood, long surcoat and helmet strapped to sword scabbard. Standing nonchalantly holding an early pole arm.

K13. Fealty my Lord

A kneeling knight offering fealty to his Lord; dressed and equipped ready for battle. This kit has a particularly expressive face.

K12. Hors de Combat

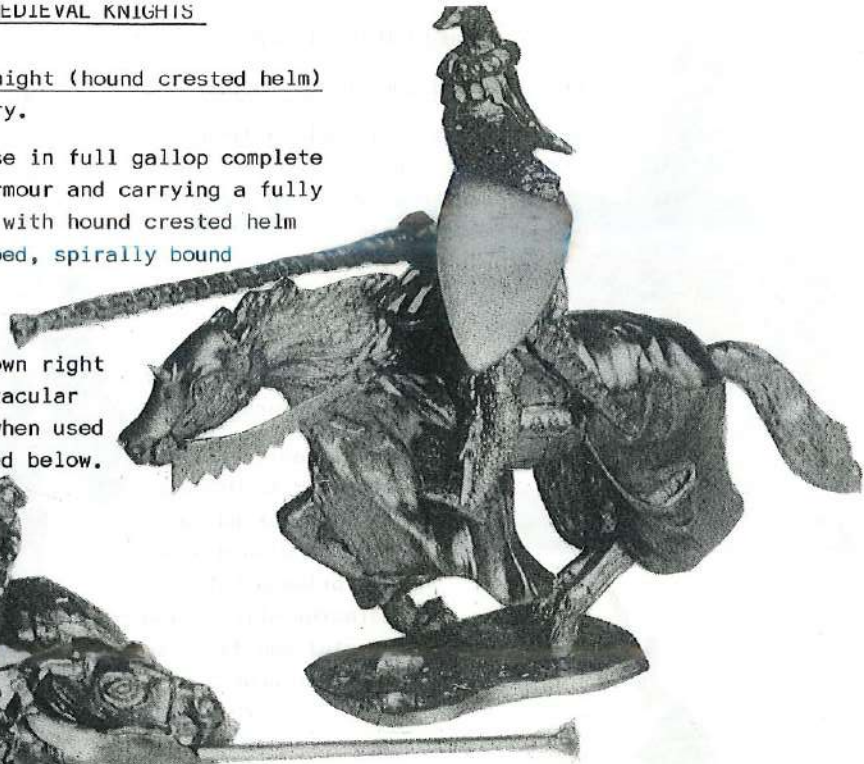

13th century

A wounded knight of the 1320's standing bareheaded (coif pushed back), holding his injured right arm with his left hand.

K17. Jousting Knight (hound crested helm)
late 13th Century.

A beautiful horse in full gallop complete with forehead armour and carrying a fully armoured knight with hound crested helm and caronal tipped, spirally bound lance.

Lovely in it's own right or makes a spectacular jousting scene when used with K14 pictured below.

K14. Jousting Knight (lion crested helm)
late 13th Century

Caught at the moment of impact, a real action figure. This fully armoured knight carries a caronal tipped lance and wears a lion crested helm.

The horse is caparisoned and is rearing slightly as the lance meets it's target.

K18. Mounted Knight with Armoured Horse
late 13th Century

The horse has an attractive flowing caparison and armour on neck and face. The knight has temporarily removed his Swan crested helm, but is ready dressed with shield, sword and gauntlets.

K15. Medieval Lady in Waiting
13th Century

A useful general female figure, suitable for use in many different situations.

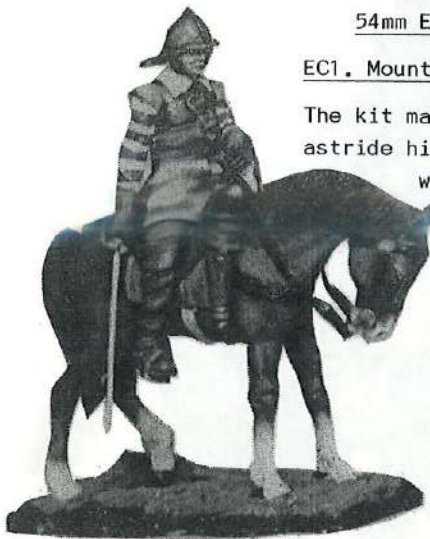

K16. Lady of the Manor
13th century

A lady of noble birth, wearing head dress and clothes of the period.

She could be watching the jousting, waiting for her husband to put his armour on before going off to fight or in many other scenes.

EC1. Mounted Roundhead Trooper

The kit makes a roundhead trooper astride his trusty steed. He comes with drawn sword and a single bar naseł pot helmet.

EC2. Standing Officer with standard.

A well designed kit depicting an Officer holding a standard, complete with his plumed, soft brimmed hat characteristic of the period. A useful addition to any civil war scene.

EC4. Halberdier/Pikeman circa 1650

This figure is modelled marching, wearing Morion and supplied carrying a halberd on his right shoulder, with his left hand on his hip. The same figure with the addition of an 18ft pike would also be correct as a pikeman, (the halberd supplied could be extended to the appropriate length by soldering a piece of rod to the Halberd handle - rod not supplied).

EC3. Standing Officer

A nicely detailed figure of a Civil War Officer in nonchalant pose, standing with drawn sword. Complete with his soft brimmed hat, a figure to appeal to any Civil War modeller.

EC6. 'Passing in Review'

A delightful model of a Mounted Royalist Officer saluting his Monarch. Both the horse and rider are shown in a wind swept pose.

EC5. Mounted Officer of Cuirassiers

An interesting kit showing a bare headed Cuirassier, complete with lobster pot armour and sitting on his horse, holding his 'Todenkopf' close helmet.

R2. Roman Legionary

mid 1st Century

Superbly detailed kit showing a Roman Legionary in battle order, advancing at the jog trot with Gladius drawn and held in the right hand. This figure lends itself to easy modification to many other figures.

R3. Roman Legionary throwing a pilum.

A Roman Legionary caught in the act of throwing his pilum at the enemy.

R1. Legionary Signifer

Roman Legionary Signifer of the post Augustian period advancing at the trot.

R4. Roman Centurian

Our kit models a Centurian advancing with drawn sword, driving his Legionaries with his vine stick raised in his left hand.

R6. Senior Roman Officer

A highly detailed kit portraying a Senior Officer of advancing years. Very suitable as a Legate or General.

R5. Dying or Drunken Roman.

Roman Legionary in 'dead' trouble (or sleeping off the wine after lunch !).

Complete with usual accoutrements.

LM9. Napoleon 1st Emperor of France

Our figure is designed to represent Napoleon in the period 1813-15, when his star was fading. The pressures on him at this time were immense, as alone, France faced virtually every Nation in Europe. Vastly outnumbered, with only the remnants of the pre 1812 veterans to stiffen it, the French Army composed greatly of young conscripts, fought magnificently, but in vain.

As the Historians continue to argue the how's and why's, we have tried to capture the man witnessing one of his later battles, trying desperately to win that vital victory which would ensure that France would follow him to the ends of the earth. As we know it did not happen, but he did ensure that the cry 'Vive l'Empereur' would echo down the annals of military history.

LM10. Cuirassier

An animated character this, trying hard to explain some detail to Napoleon, with arm outstretched pointing to some distant problem.

LM11. French Officer of 8e Régiment de Cuirassiers 1810-15

Standing in a relaxed pose, gazing into the distance, possibly watching his compatriots in a sister regiment charging home against the enemy. The figure can portray any unit of cuirassiers depending on the colours chosen for painting.

LM12. Spanish Infantryman Grenadier 1812.

This Grenadier is modelled as we imagine him, clothed and equipped in the so called 'British Uniform', hot and tired, waiting for his unit, (part of Morillo's Division) to go into action at Roncevalles.

LM13. Austro-Hungarian Grenadier Officer 1809

This Officer is shown standing in a casual manner, leaning with his weight resting on his drawn sabre which is held under his left hand.

Orders can be taken on Access or Visa card by telephone on Crawley (0293) 516329 during the hours shown above.

HELPFUL HINTS

1. Tools most modellers have their own ideas about tools. It is however advisable to have a selection of swiss files, a good sharp craft knife, a burnishing brush (a suede shoe brush is ideal), wet and dry paper, glue or soldering iron, plus a good selection of small artists paint brushes. Although expensive a Badger Air Brush and an Expo drill, together with a selection of dentist's burs (ask him for his old ones!) would prove invaluable.

2. Casting Preparation It is most important to prepare your figure before assembly. Gently remove any flash or mould seam marks with a swiss file or the back of a craft knife. Each section should then be cleaned and gently burnished by brushing with a soft wire brush e.g. a brass suede shoe brush. It would be a good idea to try a dry assembly run (i.e. without glue) to ensure all parts fit correctly before final assembly.

3. Glues and Solder

- a). 5 minute Epoxy glue is ideal for most modellers as it allows time to adjust the parts during assembly. Available from most model shops or hardware outlets.
- b). Cyanoacrylic glue i.e. Instant glue can also be used but the parts must be located exactly first time, as it sets instantly.
- c). Solder is best used by the experienced modeller. The type we recommend for cast metal kits is low melt solder (e.g. Langley Low Melt Solder and Langley flux). Great care must be taken that the hot soldering iron does not melt through the casting.
- d). A harder variety of solder can be used e.g. Multicore 60% tin/40% lead. The method is to build the solder above the joints like a weld seam, fusing each half together. The excess solder is then removed with a burr, file or knife and the items re-profiled. This method ensures a good undetectable joint, but great care must be taken as the melting point of the solder is almost the same as that of the casting, without care limbs could drop off when the melting point is reached (not nice!) Practice and patience are the keys to this method of construction, and produce excellent results.

4. Painting Clean the assembled unit with warm soapy water to ensure any grease is removed, and allow to dry. The prepared model should then be primed, Hols or a similar car undercoat are very good and come in tins for brush painters or Aerosols. Make sure that this is not applied too thickly or fine detail will be obliterated. The unit can then be painted as required with the paint of your choice. Suitable paints are:- Humbrol, Gloy or Airfix paints available from most model shops. Rowney Crylaflow or Rowney Acrylic Oils available from artists supply shops are also suitable. Two very useful books for research available from most libraries are the Ospray range and the series written by Funcken.
